About the Artist

A native of Hubbard, a small town in Northeastern, Ohio, Ken Modak moved to Georgia to further develop his art skills. He earned his Associate of Arts degree from the Art Institute of Atlanta, in 1986. Ken worked for several years with a commercial art studio in Atlanta, concentrating on airbrush illustrations for various national corporations, as well as work in watercolor and colored pencil. He has been working as a freelance illustrator since 1990.

Modak's work is unique. Using a process that involves working primarily with airbrush and color pencil technique, the artist feels his way, capturing likeness, as well as personality. This exceptional style actually sharpens detail and brings figures to life on paper. No stranger to UGA football fans, Modak has created artwork for the cover of UGA media guides, limited edition prints, posters, and personal portraits since 1991.
